

ALWAYS WORKING ARTISTS AND THE BIG HOO-HAA PRESENT

IMPROVILICIOUS

MEDIA RELEASE

Improvilicious is the interactive comedy for tweens and teenagers that makes theatre ridiculously awesome. Imagine Romeo & Juliet in the style of Beauty & the Geek or Waiting for Godot by the Kardashians? You'll see all this and more at Melbourne Town Hall from March 29.

In the style of TV's 'Thank God You're Here' and 'Whose Line is it Anyway', Improvilicious stars Melbourne's Jimmy James Eaton (Channel 7's Slideshow) and Ben Russell (Second City, Chicago) The boys take creative licence of Shakespeare, David Williamson and a bunch of other favourites of your high school drama teacher.

Join us through the epic twists and turns of the dramatic world as our handsome improvisers don dresses and moustaches to present everything you need to know about theatre. Combining famous scenes with the best improv games, Improvilicious uses audience suggestions to make sure that no two shows are the same. That's right; the kids control the performers' destiny!

The kids' comedy hit of Western Australia since 2007, Improvilicious comes to Melbourne Town Hall weekends and daily through school holidays. Kids will love their parents for taking them to the made-up-on-the-spot anarchy that is Improvilicious.
